

Integrated Healthcare Project

The Integrated Healthcare Project at the Nebraska Medical Association, in conjunction with Nebraska DHHS Division of Behavioral Health, is a physician-led project that promotes the value of integrated healthcare models in primary and behavioral healthcare settings.

We are currently looking to partner with rural primary care clinics with an interest in integrating or increasing access to behavioral health services on site. We can offer grant funds to help support a behavioral health provider's position and we have experts who can offer training and consultation on successful models of integration.

As a grant funded project, some of the things we can do include:

- Assistance with bringing on a behavioral health provider (therapist, social worker, psychiatric prescriber, etc.) by providing up to $50,000 for one year in start-up funding to support a new position.
- Training on integrated healthcare and successful models of integration.
- Access to a psychiatrist for consultation with providers.
- Training and consultation on treating patients with substance use disorders.
- Data collection on outcomes for patients with behavioral health diagnoses.
- Any other assistance that a rural primary care clinic needs to increase access to behavioral health services for patients.

We are happy to meet with you to discuss partnership opportunities! Please contact:
